MEDIA STATEMENT

DWS in Free State to hold Sanitation Public awareness campaigns

18 September 2017

The Department of Water and Sanitation (DWS) has come up with awareness campaigns to educate community members about the best sanitation practices.

The campaigns are aimed at educating and informing the community about two fundamental sanitation aspects and inform them about the services and projects that are executed in their respective areas.

These campaigns will also afford the members of the community with an opportunity to interact with officials about the Department of Water and Sanitation issues.

The campaigns are one of the initiatives of the Department which aim to bring government closer to their communities in as far as service delivery is concerned.

The Department of Water and Sanitation, working with all stakeholders in various communities is committed to ensure that the members of the public are empowered with necessary information that will propel them in their lives. With this in mind, sanitation is one of the most important subjects that the Department is determined to educate the public about as it talks to the most basic things such as hygiene.

The campaigns details are as follows:
